

COMMENTS

Brianna — February 18, 2021 @ 3:30 pm REPLY

Was amazing! My Walmart didn't have coriander in stock and didn't have ground cumin. I used serrano instead of jalapeño. It was just like my favorite tortilla soup from BJ's. I am sending this recipe to my family. I want everyone to try it!

LINH — February 13, 2021 @ 9:46 am REPLY

I just made this soup today and it's so tasty! didn't have corn at home but still turned out very good. It's a winner! I love the recipe, but since my dad has gout he can't eat beef; this white chicken chili is perfect for him. Thank you Lisa!

CATHERINE — February 13, 2021 @ 12:58 pm REPLY

I LOVE this White Chicken Chili! You are right, it is satiating meal—delicious with toasted bread. Refreshingly different taste than any chicken chili I've made in the past. I made it exactly as written and added some chopped zucchini, carrots, and celery. Instead of shredding the chicken, I cut it into small pieces. It freezes very well. Will be an all-time favorite, for sure!

KALI — February 13, 2021 @ 11:31 am REPLY

This recipe is dynamite! My partner usually won't eat beans but he finished the whole pot (darn was hoping to have some for leftovers haha). This is crowd-pleaser that I am going to add to my regular recipe rotation. Thanks so much, Lisa!